A quick glimpse of Jane Carr's estore and you won't be surprised to hear that the MA graduate spent four years in Milan as head of women's wear printed textiles for Donatella Versace.

Carr's stunning collection that features luxury hand-finished scarves, stoles and beach wear launched in 2005 and was immediately heralded as a coveted cult-label by fashion editors and an international clientele of celebrity devotees - Cat Deeley is just one of many.

Since then the label has become synonymous with limited editions and distinctive signature prints that embody a love affair with vibrant colour - the new Escapade collection was inspired by Besson's art film 'Le Grand Bleu' and animated film 'Finding Nemo'.

If the first film doesn't mean much - it featured breathtaking wide angled shots of the beautiful Italian seaside - then the latter might...

Sling pareos around you hips, skinny scarves and stoles around your neck and towels in your bag for the ultimate in chic style.

A Tale of Two Scarves...

Published on Saturday 26th April 2008

I've just returned from the most hectic couple of weeks I've had in a very long time and I don't sit about! Firstly we'd been invited to birthday party in Yorkshire so we piled into the car turning the boot into a bedroom for the dogs and off we went.

The weather was foul but the walking was good although I was heard to whinge on the odd occasion when my favourite hat emptied its brim down my back, sadly inside of my Le Chameau jacket which otherwise had kept me very warm and cosy.

The only possible complaint was that instead of the lovely hotel we stayed in being staffed by local Yorkshire lasses it was entirely run by various parts of Eastern Europe which slightly took the edge off the Dales experience.

Home for a day and off to Venice with my mother. Our hotel was beautifully situated a couple of bridges along from the Bridge of Sighs. Close to everything including some of the best of Venice retail opportunities, which needless to say just had to be checked out!

After melting my credit card in Burano on the most spectacular piece of glass, I was feeling a little guilty about spending any money on myself but Granny came to the rescue and presented me with a couple of "Pucciesque" silk scarves. I don't think a day has passed since then that I haven't worn one or the other so I'm now on a mission to build on my collection.

Aspinal has a good collection that won't break the bank and then there are the usual suspects like Hermes and Gucci but my favourite discovery is Jane Carr - she has the most fabulous collection of colourful scarves.
